IN MEMORIAM
In loving memory of husband and father, Charlie Paulette, who passed away one year ago, August 26.

The sorrow the day would bring.
The end was sudden, the shock severe,

You know how we loved you,
Yes, love you yet;
Though God took you from us,
We can never forget.
Your sad wife, son,
and daughter.

County Schools Opened Sept. 2

County public schools opened on Wednesday of this week, with full enrollment and prospects of a normal and successful session.

Enrollment at Appomattox High School was unofficially reported as 622, a slight increase from opening day of last year.

Enrollment at the Appomattox Elementary School was unofficially reported at 496, a very slight increase. No reports had come in on enrollment at Carver-Price School or rural elementary schools.

The pattern, however, indicated that there would be a normal county enrollment of about 2,200 pupils, about 30% in the Negro schools, and with little or no variation from previous school sessions.

The teachers met in local workshops earlier this week, to set up plans for the session. Mr. Earl Smith, county general supervisor of education was in charge of the activities at these workshops. Mrs. Mozella Price headed the workshops for the Negro schools. A feature of the workshops was planning the necessary schedules of work in the local schools, and coordination of an overall local school program.

And so — the schools are open again. The school busses are on the highways — all are at work again, and hopes are high for a successful school session.

Rainfall Down For August

The local U. S. Weather Reporter could report only 2.24 inches of rainfall during the month of August. This was down over normal years, and as much less than the rainfall reported in some nearby areas.

Summer storms hit some areas with sizeable rains, and so this report is not truly representative of the rainfall throughout the county and area. On August 24, there was a downpour of one inch here, but otherwise, it was a hot, dry month.

Weather readings here are recorded by Mrs. John F. Taylor.

F. H. A. Council

The executive council of the Campbell - Appomattox F. H. A. Federation met Monday, August 24, at Smithburg to plan the work for the year. The officers present were: president, Jo Ann Brenner; vice-president, Pauline Perrow; secretary, Brenda Stout; treasurer, Lynn Shelton; reporter, Linda Cyrus. Faye Cyrus, historian, was not present at this meeting. They also had with them an honorary member, Mrs. Emily Hickman, Area Supervisor for the F. H. A.

The project selected for the year was Future Homemakers Make Virginia Homes Beautiful and Safe.

The plan of work is as follows:

Goal 1.- To interpret the value of home economics as a basic part of one's total education.

1. Prepare an exhibit on opportunities in home economics.
2. Invite parents and others interested to attend Federation meetings and other activities.
3. Recognize parents and persons who have promoted F. H. A. in the communities.

Goal 2.- To help individuals develop their potential abilities. Project: Future Homemakers Make Virginia homes beautiful and safe.

1. Program at fall rally on Home Beautification and Safety.
2. Summary of project at spring rally.

After planning the work for the year, the calendar was set up as follows:

August 10.- Meeting for revision of constitution.

Aug. 24.- Planning meeting at Rustburg.

Sept. 24.- Leadership training work shop at Rustburg, at 4 P. M.

Sept. 30.- Planning meeting.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

. . . . Frank Leigh Burke

Frank Leigh Burke was judged as First Place Winner in the Southside Electric Cooperative Essay Contest on Rural Electrification, which was open to high school graduates attending a state supported college. He was presented a $500.00 check at the Annual Cooperative Meeting in Crewe, Va., on Saturday, August 29. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs .William W. Burke, and will attend the University of Virginia this year.

His essay follows:

Today 95 per cent of the farms in the nation are being furnished and supplied with electricity and equipment by low cost Rural Electric Cooperatives. This has been one of the greatest factors toward improving the standard of living in the rural areas. To these farms electricity was made possible by far-sighted farm people who joined together in helping each other to organize Rural Electric Cooperatives throughout the nation.

When the first pole was set and the first light was installed in the homes, it marked an era in the lives of rural farmers and their families; thereby they were assured a better standard of living.

To the Rural Fathers, it brought light to their homes and barns, power for their daily chores, less tedium, fewer labor problems, and increased production and income. It brought to them more security by contributing to the economic progress of their community and state. It brought to them a sense of great pride in having taken a part in and having shared in the progress and course of "Their Cooperative."

To the Rural Mothers, it brought what seemed like "a gift from heaven," conserving their youth and strength. It brought to them modern electric equipment which enabled them to prepare more healthful and more appetizing meals to provide proper storage of food for every day use, and to preserve the surplus products to feed their families throughout the year. It brought cleaner clothes, better heating, air conditioning and correct lighting, which made for a more healthful, attractive, and livable home. Best of all, it brought many free hours which gave them an opportunity for a happy association with their families as well as for participation in church, school, clubs, and community projects.

To the Rural Sons, it brought the opportunity to attend school to further their education and then the desire to return home to help their father's work in partnership; thereby being able to establish their own homes and families. To those that remained in the cities, it also brought the desire to build summer homes in the rural areas that were equal to their city homes in modern electric equipment, and in many instances to enjoy a farming hobby.

To the Rural Daughters, it brought enjoyment rather than drudgery in the tasks that they performed. It brought new friends, recreation and pleasant entertainment. To them it was a new way of life; learning to live better electrically.

To the Rural Families as a unit, it brought greater cooperation in their work and a hope for tomorrow in the improvement of their standard of living.

From the beginning of civilization, the standard of living has been built in our homes, and today America enjoys a higher standard of living than any other country in the world.

In my opinion, low cost Electric Cooperatives have improved and equalized the rural areas of the nation to make all this true.

Foreign students praise U. S. hospitality.

New Town Council In Office For The Town of Appomattox

Financial Aid Invited For Prince Edward Schools

It is understood that friends of the new private schools in Prince Edward County, are making a quiet campaign in Appomattox, to seek contributions to the educational effort in our neighboring county. No public schools are being operated in Prince Edward this year. As a result of an appeal, a most successful drive has been conducted for books for a private school library. An appeal was made for at least 2,500 books to start, and we are informed that over 8,000 books have been contributed, as well as cash for additional purchases. This week The Times-Virginian sent to the Librarian, a sizeable collection of books and magazines brought to our office as a result of our recent appeal for such donations.

It is our understanding, that any local citizen desiring to contribute to the Prince Edward school fund, should immediately contact State Senator Chas. T. Moses.

GIRL SCOUTS REPORT ON "ROUND-UP"

Appomattox Girl Scout Day Camp was held August 10-14, from 10 A. M. to 3 P. M., at the American Legion Hall. Each day began with a flag ceremony, with all the girls and leaders participating. Then the girls were divided into two units: sixteen Brownies and seventeen Intermediates. The units were divided into patrols for the girls to perform duties, work with crafts, woodcraft, hiking, and experiment with different types of outdoor cooking.

On Wednesday, a representative of the Virginia Forestry Service presented a program on conservation and demonstrated how to determine the age of a tree.

Two Senior Girl Scouts, of Lynchburg, Mary Sweeny and Ann Conover visited the camp and spoke about their trip to the Senior Round-up at Colorado Springs, Col. They presented tokens of appreciation to the troops in the Southside Neighborhood for providing swaps which were taken to the Round-up. Accepting the swaps on behalf of all the troops was Mrs. C. T. Moses, Jr., Neighborhood Chairman.

Open House for parents and visitors was held on Friday from 2 to 3 o'clock, at which time each unit presented a program. The visitors were then shown the unit homes and the Brownies and Intermediates.

Staff for the day camp was as follows: Brownies, Mrs. Grace Taylor, Unit leader, and Mrs. Ida Grinels, Assistant Leader; Intermediates, Mrs. Ann Cole, Unit Leader, and Mrs. Vivian Caldwell, Assistant Leader. Mrs. Charles Cushwa, of the Central Virginia Council of Girl Scouts, Lynchburg, was Camp Director.

KNOW THE WEATHER

By E. H. Sims

Is psychology a factor in weather's influence on our feelings?

Yes, psychology is closely interwoven with the weather. But a storm or rainy season which depresses so many works both from the psychological angle and from the physical.

A low-pressure (bad - weather) system affects the nerves and tissues of the body and often irritates corns, bunions, etc., because the pressure of the air on our bodies decreases. High humidity is also often uncomfortable.

In addition, many are depressed with the darker days and dampness of cloudy, low-pressure weather, from the psychological point of view. Thus people are affected, both psychologically and physically, by a low pressure.

He Is

He who laughs last is the guy who is going to tell the same story a little later. —The Almanac, U. S. S. Bon Homme Richard, (CV-31).

The Town of Appomattox is now under a new administration. As of September 1, an entirely new Town Council has taken over the operation of town government. Two informal, unofficial meetings of the new council have been held, and others are on the agenda before the regular council meeting date, Sept. 21. All new councilmen have been sworn in, and have shown a fine spirit of cooperation in their desire to serve the best interests of the people of the community.

Mayor C. T. Moses, Jr., takes over his second term in office. The new Town Council is made up as follows: J. T. ,Almond and Mrs. Calvin Robinson, who have served several previous terms; and Ivey Holland, Dr. S. R. Lawson and Randolph Gilbert, who were on the unopposed ticket of candidates in the June town election.

Due to the death of Mr. C. K. Hunter, who was elected in June, there is a vacancy on the Council, and preliminary informal conferences of the new council have included plans to fill this vacancy later this month.

Gene Carson State Winner

Appomattox County 4-H'ers really reaped the honors at the 1959 State 4-H Electric Congress, held at the Jefferson Hotel in Richmond August 26-28.

Gene Carson, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Carson, of Hebron Community, was chosen state winner for his outstanding accomplishments in the Electric Project. Gene will receive an all-expense-paid trip to National 4-H Congress in Chicago this fall.

Percy Lucado, Jr., of Pamplin, won the highest honor for the boys from East Central District, and received a gold wrist watch. Percy also presented a demonstration to the entire group of 200 delegates and guests attending the Congress.

APPOMATTOX MUSICIAN ENTERTAINS U. S. FORCE IN KOREA

(Special to Times-Virginian)

OSAN AB, Osan, Korea (OIS)- Airman First Class Robert L. Neal, son, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Watson, of Route 1, Box 40, Appomattox, Va., is a member of the popular Southland Playboys.

Since 1953, the Southland Playboys have kept at Air Force personnel in Korea swinging and singing, either at Osan or one of the K-sites, with their popular hillbilly music. No other group has surpassed their record of entertainment.

Presently comprised of five members, the Playboys have proof of their popularity by merely showing their entertainment demand. Last month alone, they were booked for 28 shows. They perform entirely on their free time.

"Bob" Watson handles both the steel and electric guitars. Entering the Playboys circuit in March of this year, Bob has been playing a guitar since he was six years old. Before he was hardly bigger than his instrument, he was entertaining on local stages and radio shows.

Prior to entering the Air Force in 1953, Bob worked with the Virginia Valley Boys on radio station WWOD, Lynchburg, Va. He has entertained on the stage with such popular Country personalities as Mac Wiseman, Jim Eanes, Don Reno, Red Smiley, Doc Williams, and Bill Reid.

He is presently assigned to the 6314th Field Maintenance Squadson, which is a part of the 314th Air Division. The Division, located at Osan Air Base (Freedom's Frontier), is charged with "Keeping the Peace" through air offensive and defense operations throughout Korea.

A splendid job has been done by Appomattox Lions Club in arranging for lights and the grading of the playground field at the Appomattox High School. The following statement was issued this week by Lion Dr. Clyde G. O'Brien, of the Lions Club Committee:

Behold, it has happened!

And there were a few who said it couldn't be done! Here you looked at your new football field at the Appomattox High School? The poles are erected, the lights assembled, and the bleachers are to be installed. This project is not costing you taxpayers one cent, yet it will aid your high school students. The Lions Club and the Junior Chamber of Commerce deserve much credit. But special attenuion should be directed to Jim Beamer and Bob Leffers and other members of Transcontinental Gas Pipe Line Co., for installation and expert supervision of this work. We are so grateful that we have such a civic-minded group in our midst, who have worked much beyond the call of duty. Bob Sears and Tim Trent have kept the supplies rolling, so there has been no delay. We wish to thank everyone who has contributed their labor and financial aid. This project has not been paid for but the Lions Club and Junior Chamber of Commerce will work hard to curtail the notes on this $10,000.00 indebtedness. Anyone who will contribute any financial aid will be rewarded in the project's worth.

Note: The first home game of the 1959 football season is set for Friday night, Sept. 11. Appomattox should be ready with its new high school football field. In fact, it is planned that an intra-squad game can be played on the field this Friday night.

FEEDER PIG SALES

Pig producers in Appomattox County are invited to attend a Feeder Pig Sale meeting at the local court house on Monday, September 7, at 7:45 P. M. Rolie Godsey, Swine Specialist, from VPI, will be here to discuss the first organized sale for the county.

Although hog prices have dropped in recent months, and prospects are that they will be even lower during succeeding months, it is believed that a feeder sale is more advantageous to farmers during these times than in periods of high prices. One need not be a large producer to consign pigs. A farmer who has only one sow can be a part of this organized sale.

The first sale is scheduled for the second week in November.
